DRY ZONE PLACED AROUND NAVAL TRAINING CAMPS

Secretary Daniel's Order Calls for Five Mile Limit

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Dry zones five miles wide irrespective of incorporated cities and towns within those limits, are placed around seven permanent naval training posts and the naval academy at Annapolis, Maryland, in a general order announced today by Secretary Daniels.

A statement accompanying the order indicated that the new restrictions might be made to apply to other camps or stations later but for the present the order applied only to the following: The Great Lakes Naval Training Station near Chicago; the training stations at Norfolk, Va. and Hampton Roads; the training camps at Mare Island and the Marine Stations at Quantica, Va., and Port Royal, S. C.

Within the five mile zones, under authority of the selective service act the secretary forbids the sale or giving away of any alcoholic liquor, including wine or beer, or the importation of such liquor except for medicinal or sacramental purposes. As the army has done in its regulations an exception is made of the serving of liquor in private homes, to guests of members of the family. In his statement explaining the order Mr. Daniels said it had become necessary to protect young sailors gathered for training. He referred at length to conditions at Newport and Vallejo, Calif., near the Mare Island station which he said local authorities had been vainly urged to correct.

"For many months," said the statement, "evils resulting from the presence of intoxicating liquor in the vicinity of certain places under the naval jurisdiction has been brought repeatedly to the department. By various means this liquor finds its way into the possession of enlisted men of the navy and marine corps stationed at these places and the moral and physical welfare of the men is thus being seriously endangered. A so-called dry zone of only one half mile in width surrounding these stations would be ineffective inasmuch as, in certain cases, a considerable area in which the objectionable trade in liquor flourishes would not thus be covered. It is therefore the strong conviction of responsible officers on the spot that the dry zone about these places should be the full five miles in width, irrespective of the fact that an incorporated city or town lies within such distance.

"The department strongly concurs in these views and considers that conditions amply justify the establishment of such zones, which is most earnestly recommended by all that are interested in the efficiency and welfareof the naval service. There are cited below some facts and quotations regarding the situation at the places mentioned."

In regard to Newport the secretary quoted communications from the commandant of the naval district from the Newport ministers, from the war camp community service committee and the chief of ordnance urging that intoxicants be barred.

"In the vicinity of the city of Newport," he said, "are located the naval training station at which there are at present approximately 6,500 enlisted men and the naval torpedo station, at which, altho there are only about 400 enlisted men, very large quantities of high explosives are stored, the safety of which is seriously jeopardized by the possibility of intoxicated men, either civilians or enlisted force in its vicinity. The crews of ships visiting at Narragansett Bay should also be considered among those affected.

"Representations have been made by the authorities at the training station that in spite of every effort on their part and in spite of the detail of numerous naval patrols thruout the city, the liquor menace continues unabated and is constantly undermining the physical and moral welfare of the naval personnel. Practically all of the personnel at the training station are young lads very recently enlisted who are receiving their first training in the navy and who are at age which makes most necessary that these new conditions prevail.

"In the vicinity of Vallejo, California is the navy yard at Mare Island including a large training camp. At present there are at Mare Island about 6,500 enlisted men of which the great majority are young lads recently enlisted.

"A determined effort has been made by the department and the commandant at Mare Island to cause an improvement in the liquor situation at Vallejo, but action of the local authorities and the wishes of the department have been stubbornly opposed by those interested in the continuation of this evil and no remedial results of any significance have been realized. As early as last August this matter was a subject of grave consideration and under date of Sept. 8, 1917, in a letter reciting the wretched conditions with regard to liquor in Vallejo, the commandant states as follows:

"Pending the cleaning up of Vallejo and the establishment of improved conditions by the municipal authorities the commandant is limiting liberty to that city to men who

TEXAS A STEP NEARER STATEWIDE PROHIBITON

AUSTIN, Texas, March 6.—Texas took a step nearer statewide prohibition today when the lower house passed finally the statutory prohibition bill prohibiting sale or manufacture of spirituous or malt liquors containing intoxicants and shipment into the state of liquors except for scientific, mechanical or sacramental purposes. The bill now goes to the senate where favorable action is predicted by prohibition leaders. So far as is known Governor Hobby has not indicated whether he will sign the bill if it passes in the senate but prohibition leaders express the belief that he at least will allow it to become a law.

UNITED STATES HAS MADE NO MOVE REGARDING JAPAN

No Direct Communications Exchanged Regarding Siberia

WASHINGTON, March 6.—It was made plain today that the United States has neither assented to nor dissented from any plan of Japan for action in Siberia and that previous statements that no direct communications have been exchanged between the two governments on the subject were correct. The American government has been fully informed concerning the situation by Great Britain, Japan's ally by special treaty, and discussions between London and Washington are continuing. But so far as could be learned Japan has not even indirectly asked the approval of her plans by the United States, consequently the latter is not called upon to make a formal expression.

Great Britain is said to have expressed confidence in Japan's intentions with a view to allaying any apprehension here that Japan might do more than protect the war stores at Vladivostok and combat German activites. The understanding is that the state department has been satisfied on this point.

JOHN E. REDMOND, IRISH NATIONALIST LEADER, DIES

Death Is Due to Heart Failure Following an Operation to Relieve Intestinal Obstruction.

London, March 6.—John E. Redmond the Irish Nationalist leader, died this morning.

Mr. Redmond, who underwent an operation in London last Friday passed a fair day yesterday and apparently was maintaining the progress shown Monday.

The Irish convention which had been supported by Mr. Redmond, yesterday sent a message of sympathy in which an earnest wish was expressed for his early and complete recovery.

Mr. Redmond passed away peacefully at 7:45 o'clock this morning. Death was due to heart failure, following the recent operation which was for an intestinal obstruction. This was borne courageously and it relieved the patient but heart failure intervened Tuesday night.

The physicians attending Mr. Redmond issued the following announcement:

"We regret to announce that John Redmond died at 7:45 this morning. Owing to several serious attacks of illness a severe operation was faced with great courage. It had become imperatively necessary owing to an intestional obstruction. This was relieved by the operation and for some days satisfactory progress was maintained. After a fairly comfortable day Tuesday, heart failure supervened during the night and after a few hours Mr. Redmond passed peacefully away."

SPRINGFIELD IS AWARDED STATE TITLE TOURNAMENT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 6.—By a special referendum vote of the schools winning the recent district basketball tournaments, Springfield has been awarded the state title tournament to be held March 14, 15 and 16, according to word received here today. Of the thirteen schools to be represented, seven favored holding the contests here, two did not vote and four votes were scattering.

Winners of the district tournaments which will be represented at the tournament here are as follows:

Rockford, Elgin, New Trier, Galesburg, Canton, Jerseyville, Champaign Centralia, Duquoin, Clinton, Lawrenceville, University High of Normal and Shelbyville.

The games will be played in the gymnasium of the new Springfield high school.

BAN ON NEW SONG

Chicago, March 6.—Sale of the song "There'll by a Hot Time for the Old Men While the Young Men are Away." was prohibited by Hinton G. Clabaugh of the department of justice here today because he considered it a reflection on the patriotism of the men in the army and those too old to enter the military service.

AMERICAN TROOPS HOLDING 8 MILES OF FRONT TRENCH

U. S. Sector is Supported By Three Army Divisions

WASHINGTON, March 6.—American troops are now holding something over eight miles of trenches on the battle front in France it was learned today, altho in an airline their frontage is only about four and a half miles. This frontage is liable to extension at anytime to the regular trench allotment for an army corps.

Irregularity of the trench lines is responsible for their eight miles of length. They are laid out so that flanking fire may be obtained along every part of the front. Strong points containing machine guns jut out for this purpose. The trenches also follow closely any protective slope of the country and wander up and down hill.

The American sector is understood to be a divisional frontage, which means that at least three divisions of American troops are there to give the necessary support in depth for the front lines. This fact has aroused speculation here as to who will be selected by General Pershing to command the first corps of his army. Major General Hunter Liggett is known to have acted in that capacity, but as yet the expeditionary commander has not made any recommendation. It is possible that the French system will be followed in the American army so far as the appointment of corps commanders goes. It is the custom in France to select anyone of the division commanders in a corps and place him at the head of the corps. He retains his rank as division commander, however, and in the case of the American army that would be a major general. If the French practice is adopted, therefore the grade of lieutenant general may be employed only for field army commanders.

Repulse German Raid.

Headquarters American Troops in France, March 6.—By the Associated Press—American troops on still another place on the French front have been raided by Germans who were repulsed with losses.

This is the first time permission is given to mention this engagement. The American forces entered the battle line in a certain place in Lorraine. The French commander congratulated the Americans on their behavior.

The foregoing is confirmation of the French official statement of March 5, which said that a German attack on trenches held by American forces in Lorraine on the night of March 4 was repulsed.

Casualties

WASHINGTON, March 6.—General Pershing today reported five men killed in action, two severely wounded, and fourteen slightly wounded. The dead are:

Privates:

Dyer J. Bird, uncle N. A. Treadmore, Richwood, Ohio, March 1.

Efton Garber, White Oak, Ark., March 1.

Ellery A. Chism, Petersham, Mass. Feb. 10.

Frank Walczak, sister, Laura Dobzyk, Joliet, Ill., Feb. 25.

Wagoner Charles Cavanaugh, friend, L. E. Fitzpatrick, Medford, Mass., March 3.

The severely wounded were:

Corporal Alphonsus C. McCarthy, Framingham, Mass., Feb.21 and Private Ralph G. Wheeler, Gilsum, N. H., Feb. 28.

The slightly wounded were:

Corporal William Carse, Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 26.

Privates:

John Hitch, East St. Louis, Ill., March 1.

LeRoy Pickens, Rockdale Texas, March 4.

Harry Zody, New York City, Feb. 26.

John Arda, Chelsea, Mass., Feb. 20.

Charles Scholare, Detroit, March 3.

James J. Collins, Gadsen, Ala., Feb. 26.

Eugene D. Deutsche, Frazee, Minn. March 4.

Alfred J. Gratton, Bennington, Vt., March 3.

Rolf L. Christianson, Reading, Mass., March 3.

Herman Gustafson, Proctor, Vt., Feb. 27.

Charles S. Gordon, friend John M. Parcel, Centerville, Iowa, March 2.

Axel Ahl, Chicago, March 3.

The reporting of two privates killed and one slightly wounded on March 1, brings the total casualties on the day of the German attack on an American trench near Toul to three lieutenants and 19 men killed, one captain, one lieutenant and sixteen men severely wounded and eleven men slightly wounded.

Privates Bird and Garber, who were killed were infantrymen, and Private Hitch who was slightly wounded, was attached to the field artillery.

Washington, March 6.—Sergeant Forest Watson, of Kenton, Ohio, was accidentally killed March 3, the war department was advised today from France. No details were given. The following deaths from natural causes also were reported:

Sergeant Harry Harper, San Rafael, Cal., pneumonia, and Privates Samuel C. Cox, Eminence, Ky., pneumonia and Norman N. Macerillis, Winslow, Me., scarlet fever,

War News Summarized

Late reports from Russia indicate that the Bolsheviki government probably will not keep its engagement with the Germans to ratify next Tuesday the peace compact agreed upon at Brest-Litovsk. The evacuation of Petrograd by the Bolsheviki government and the populace has already begun and Trotzky the foreign minister has announced that the leaders of the revolution are prepared to fall back even to the Ural Mountains, which separate Great Russia from Siberia and proclaim a holy war in order to circumvent the plans of the Germans to make the revolution unsuccessful. It seems evident that the Germans have not yet ceased their operations against the Russians for Krylenko, the commander-in-chief has sent a protest to the German commander asking whether all steps had been taken by him for the cessation of hostilities. A like message as despatched to the Austro-Hungarian commander. The reason for the latter communication however, is not apparent, for the forces of the dual monarchy are known to be bent on clearing Little Russia of Bolshevik in order to carry out their new compact to aid the Ukrainians in establishing and administering their new formed republic. Whether Japanese troops are to invade Serbia and put down the disorder there and also make secure the great stores of all kinds that are in the harbor of Vladivostok apparently has not yet been determined. In Japan the political parties are not unanimously in favor of Japanese intervention, the leader of the majority party in the diet, for instance, having declared that he and his followers are opposed to the use of Japanese troops in the eastern part of the Russian empire unless conditions there grow worse and prove a menace to the status of the far east.

Roumania evidently is on the point of effecting a separate peace with the Teutonic allies by meeting the hard demands which are to be exacted in return for a cessation of the inroads into the little kingdom, which now is absolutely isolated from its allies. The preliminary peace treaty has been signed and the armistice extended so that discussion of a formal treaty may begin immediately.

Among the chief demands of the enemy is the cessation of the Dobrudja, rectification of the Hungarian-Roumanian border, economic advantages for the central powers and aid in the transport of troops of the quadruple alliance thru Moldavia and Bessarabia to Odessa.

American troops now have taken up another position on the front in France and with their usual business-like methods already have frustrated an attempt by the Germans to raid their trenches. The new position is somewhere in Lorraine. Altogether more than eight miles of tdenches are now being held by the Americans on the western front.

From Flanders to the Swiss border artillery duels of more or less violence are taking place on various sectors and here and there raiding parties of both sides are frequently in operation. The British have carried out successful forays against the Germans east of Bullecourt and near Lens, in which latter sector the Germans for the past few days have been heavily shelling tnem.

Altho the snow has ceased there has been but little activity on the chief American sector northwest of Toul. The men of both sides have kept to their trenches and there have been only spasmodic exchanges of shells.

German reinforcements continue to be sent up behind the lines in Belgium and France, according to General Mourice, director of military operations at the British war office. At present he says, altho the enemy has sixteen more divisions than the allies along this front, the allied troops are numerically stronger and also hold the upper hand in rifles, guns and aircraft, but that this superiority is diminishing. The major preparation of the enemy for a big offensive are now more or less complete and the allies must watch for the local preparations which signalize the approach of an attack, General Maurice said.

German submarines or mines were responsible last week for the sinking of eighteen British merchant men, twelve of which were vessels of 1600 tons or over. The previous week fourteen large and four small merchantmen were destroyed.

GOVERNOR LOWDEN IN OFFICIAL PROCLAMATION

SPRINGFIELD, Ill, March 6.—Governor Frank O. Lowden late today in an official proclamation designated Friday, April 19, and Friday, October 18, as Arbor Day and Bird Day, respectively for Illinois and asked the co-operation of the people of the state in encouraging the planting of trees and shrub and the protecting and harboring of birds on those days. "The wreck and waste of war, tho appalling," declares the governor in his proclamation "should not cause us to withhold our hands from doing everything that should be done to make our nation a more inviting and worth while place for men to live and rear their children in when the days of war are over. It may seem a small thing to plant a tree or to harbor and feed our wild birds, but such acts are the clear index to the character and civilization of a people that performs them."

UNDERTAKERS MEET

Peoria, Ill., March 6.—As a preliminary to their state convention which is to be held in Rock Island in June, members of the Illinois Undertakers' Association met here today for a two day conference. They were welcomed by Mayor E. N. Woodruff.

NO NEW DIVISIONS FOR ARMY WILL BE CREATED IN 1918

Men Called Out Will Be Used in Completing Present Organization

WASHINGTON, March 6.—While a large number of men will be called out during the present year to fill up the army and complete its organization it was learned tonight that war department plans do not call for the creation of any additional divisions in 1918. The announcement concerning the second draft expected soon from Provost Marshal General Crowder may outline the manner in which less than 1,000,000—probably not much in excess of 800,000—are to be summoned gradually during the year to complete the existing organizations. Delay in the announcement as to the next draft is understood to be due to uncertainty as to which method of alloting quotas to the states is to be followed.

The senate already has passed and the house military committee has favorably reported an amendment to the law to base the quota on the number of men in Class 1 instead of upon the total registration of a state. This change is regarded as certain to be made but to avoid further delay schedules of allotments under both system have been prepared at Provost General Crowder's office ready to go out as soon as final action is taken.

As to the date of the second draft members of congress from agricultural sections have been practically assured that no withdrawal of men from civil life was contemplated, which would embarass harvesting. It has been indicated however, that a relatively small number of men must be called to the colors prior to June 1 and that process may start in April when equipment, clothing and quarters will be available. The men are needed to fill up to full strength, divisions slated for early departure to Europe and also for field army and corps not attached to divisions.

The replacement detachments must go forward at an accelerating rate since American troops are now actually holding a sector of the French front and men are being killed or wounded in action every day. The completion of the full program of the war department without creating additional divisions probably will absorb in the neighborhood of 600,000 men.

The extent to which it has been necessary to increase artillery quotas thruout the army and to add special units of all sorts has surprised every officer and accounts for the existing shortages to a large extent.

The number of replacement troops necessary is worked out in a scientific way based on experience at the front.

A fixed percentage for each arm of the service is established. Among the non-combatant arms this is very small, but it is quite high among front line troops. While official figures are not available it is estimated that something more than 200,000 will be necessary for the 1918 program, making 800,000 necessary to call out during this year.

The last increments of the first draft now in process of mobilization totalling about 80,000 men are being used to fill regular and national guard divisions shown by their efficiency reports to be available for early duty abroad. Some of the men are being used also to fill up the special forces altho an additional source of supply for highly specialized technical units is being continuously demanded. This is by special drafts of those particularly qualified of the trades necessary.

Orders were issued today to local boards calling for 528 artisans of various sorts for non-combatant units. Even if with all the first draft men mobilized thereare considerable deficiencies among the national army and some of the national guard divisions. The first purpose of the second draft will be to make up this shortage.

CHICAGO DIVORCE CASES AVERAGE 500 A MONTH

CHICAGO, March 6.—Divorce cases before judges in Cook county now average 500 a month and are increasing, it is shown in a report made public today by Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, of the Social Service Bureau. The report is supplemented by statements from Judge David M. Brothers, divorce chancellor of the circuit court, and Judge J. H. Fitch, of the Superior Court, which shows an increase in the percentage of legal separations over the report of Mrs. Britton. Her appeal for a universal divorce law, federal if possible, is endorsed by the two judges.

EARLY MORNING SHOOTING REPORTED

It is reported at three o'clock this (Thursday) morning that Oswald Jenkins, alias "Jenks," a colored man, had been shot at the home of Howard Finley on North Sandy street, at 2:30 o'clock. It is said that Finley did the shootng and that the injured man was shot thru the abdomen.

WILL BE RECOGNIZED

Toronto, Ont., March 6.—President McCaffery of the Toronto Baseball Club announced today that the International League will be reorganized and that there will be baseball as usual this season.

EIGHTEEN BRITISH MERCHANTMEN SUNK

LONDON, March 6.—Eighteen British merchantmen were sunk by mine or submarine in the last week, according to the admiralty report tonight. Of these twelve were vessels of 1600 tons or over, six being under that tonnage. No fishing craft were sunk.

Arrivals of British merchantment at ports in the united kingdom, 2,015; sailings 2,209. Merchantmen unsuccessfully attacked, six.

The losses to British shipping in the last week were the same is in the previous week with respect to the number of merchantmen sunk. In the previous week, however, fourteen of the eighteen vessels destroyed were of more than 1600 tons.

REACH AGREEMENT FOR PASSAGE OF MEASURE TODAY

Compromise Dispute Over Security Issue Control Provision

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Bowing to rising opposition in the senate administration leaders today compromised the dispute over the security issue control provision of the war finance corporation and a tacit agreement was reached for passage of the measure tomorrow.

Voluntary instead of compulsory licensing of security issues of $100,000 or more was accepted after another day of spirited debate and of negotiations between Secretary McAdoo and leaders of both factions. The compulsory licensing plan was stricken from the bill by a viva voce vote together with provisions for fine and imprisonment of persons violating orders of the capital issues committee established to censor security issues.

The compromise substitute drafted by Senator Reed of Missouri, Democrat, and offered by Senator Swanson of Virginia, Democrat, after Secretary McAdoo had given his approval, retains the plan for examination of security issues by a capital issues committee which is given official and legal status but with power limited to recommending whether such issues are compatible with interests of the war. Chairman Smoot of the finance committee explained that in effect the new provision would retain the present voluntary committee plan and with the influence of the treasury department, stock exchanges and banks supporting it would prevent flotation of securities which the committee disapproves.

The clause penalizing violation of the capital issues committee's order or regulations, a substitute was adopted providing penalties of $1,000 fine and one year's imprisonment for violation of the law excluding the committee's rules.

With these compromises, attained after much heated debate, and only comparatively minor problems to be disposed of, the bill's passage tomorrow as regarded as assured.

VOICES CONDEMNATION OF SEN. LA FOLLETTE

MADISON, Wis., March 6.—The legislature of Wisconsin having voiced condemnation of Senator Robert M. LaFollette today when the assembly by a vote of 53 to 32 concurred in the senate amended resolution, observers regarded the situation after a week's deadlock, as cleared for immediate action in the senatorial primary campaign.

Congressman Irvine Lenroot, the choice of the Milwaukee Republican caucus and James Thompson, the LaFolette candidate were in Madison today conferring over speaking and publicity programs.

Assemblyman Rosa's amendment, which would have made condemnation of LaFollette dependent on a finding of disloyalty by the senate investigation commission which has not yet reported came within four votes of passing. Forty one members voted for it, forty five against. With its failure several of the forty one shifted to the loyalty ranks on the condemnation resolution and gave it two more than the required constitutional majority of fifty one.

SILK COMPANY MEN FACE SERIOUS CHARGE

ROME, Tuesday, March 5.—In connection with the scandals over the alleged sale of silk to the enemy, three directors of a company for utilizing silk waste have been arrested. The Popolo Italia gives the numbers of fourteen railroad cars loaded with silk which were permitted to go to Chiasso as recently as the last week in February. From Chiasso, which is in Switzerland on the Italian frontier, the newspaper says the cars undoubtedly reached Germany.

PLEDGE COOPERATION

Kansas City, March 6—Retail coal merchants of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Nebraska and Iowa, meeting here late today organized the Southwest Coal Merchants' association and pledged their co-operation to the federal fuel administration.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT OF SEVERAL MILLION

Retired French Soldier Awaits Extradition to France

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Charged with embezzlement of several million dollars from the French government in dealings with American motor truck manufacturers Frank J. Goldsoll, wealthy retired French soldier is held in jail here tonight awaiting extradition proceedings, which will begin March 20.

Goldsoll is accused by the French embassy of having appropriated to his own use huge commissions on war contracts which he was sent to the United States to execute for his government. Preliminary arrangements for his release in the custody of a marshal were held up by order of United States Commissioner Hill and Goldsoll was remanded to jail.

The prisoner declined to comment on the case but his counsel talked freely, asserting that his arrest was due to political antagonism. The French ministry, they said, looked with disfavor on Goldsoll's close affiliations with Albert Thomas, former minister of munitions and that Thomas was the real object of the prosecution.

Since there can be no extradition for an offense committed in this country, Goldsoll was arrested at his hotel here on a warrant technically charging specifically the larceny of $200 in France. He was to have been arraigned this afternoon but the hearing was postponed for two weeks at the request of Goldsoll's attorneys.

Counsel for Goldsoll declared that extradition proceedings will be resisted vigorously.

"We purpose showing," they said, "that Mr. Goldsoll's activities instead of being of a criminal nature, were of a character distinctly helpful to France in the war she is waging against the German invader."

Raid New York Offices.

New York, March 6.—Following the arrest at Washington today of Frank J. Goldsoll accussed by the French government of the larceny of $3,500,000 to $6,000,000 the offices of the Alliance Motors Corporation in this city were raided by Alfred H. Becker, a deputy state attorney general at the request of Ambassador Jusserand who asked the attorney general's office two months ago to investigate Goldsoll's affairs. While Goldsoll is not an officer of the Alliance Motors Corporation, he has admitted that he is one of the principal owners, according to Mr. Becker.

"It has been found Goldsoll has been in receipt of commissions ranging from 7 1-2 to 30 per cent from five different automobile and motor truck companies," said Mr. Becker. "Laws of France forbid collection of commissions by governmental officers when they are engaged in the performance of their duties and this, it is believed will be the basis of charges Goldsoll will be compelled to face, should he be returned to France."

BRITISH MARKSMAN AT CAMP GRANT

ROCKFORD, Ill., March 6.—General Pershing's plea for an army of marksmen has given renewed activity to practice on the ranges at Camp Grant, and every day is now being utilized at shooting on the recently improved ranges. Every man and officer of the 86th division is talking today of the marksmanship of Lieutenant W. H. Parker of the British army, who yesterday set a pattern for the very best of crack shots at the cantonment. Remarking that his sighting eye was a "bit off from para-typhoid," the lieutenant picked up a rifle and proceeded to put ten bullets thru the center of a three-inch bulls-eye at 200 yards, sniping distance.

DELEGATES VISIT MACHINE PLANTS

Peoria, Ill., March 6.—After a visit to the branch houses and farm machine plants of Peoria this morning, the three hundred delegates to the Illinois Brotherhood of Threshermen convention, were to close their meeting this afternoon with the election of officers.

FOUND IN CORN FIELD

Bloomington, Ill., March 6.—The body of Patrick Killion aged 46, who disappeared from a local hotel last January 6th, was found today in a corn field two miles west of this city, where he wandered during the storm of that day.

To be hated by Germany has become a mark of honor, says an exchange.

Income tax reports should be sent in as soon as possible, in order to escape a penalty.

The kaiser plans to turn over more territory to the Turk in his scheme for the advancement of "kultur."

Plain and fancy gardening will be condensed into one kind—the plain—this year. Raise more food.

One hundred and fifty farmers attended a meeting at Pana to consider the seed corn problem. When they get together that way something practical will be accomplished.

Practical Germans do not expect much food out of Ukraine. They have only one single track railroad and there are limits to the amount of grain they can get to Germany.

The Texas legislature has made a felony of disloyal speech. Much of the pro-German talk one hears occasionally comes from unthinking people, but the Texas law will make them think before they speak. In this section public opinion is so strong that it is exceedingly dangerous for German sympathizers to talk very loud.

IN THE FARMERS HANDS.

The Federal Department of Agriculture will soon issue a report pertaining mainly to stocks of grain in farmers' hands. The report will give an estimate of wheat, corn, oats and barley of 1917 crop on farms in the United States on March 1, the proportion of each of these crops which will be shipped out of the counties where grown, and the percentage of the 1917 corn crop on farms in the United States and which is of merchantable quality.

CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS.

Congressional elections are beginning to attract attention and Republicans have a natural ambition to gain a majority in the house. But it is an ambition that should be from patriotic motives. We should have as candidates only men who are of thorough and tested loyalty to our government, men who believe that now we are in the war we are there to win and that no petty question of partisan politics be allowed to interfere with war efficiency. Replace the weak-kneed with men of the full loyalty of an American. The man who opposes the carrying on of the war in an aggressive manner has no business in either branch of the congress of the United States. Pacifist candidates are a menace.

ROYALTY CHANGES.

The Almanach de Gotha which continues to appear notes a few significant alterations in its list of crowned heads. It is curious to find the Prince of Wied given the title of Prince Albania for the first time. In Greece Prince Alexander reigns in his father's stead—poor Konstantine! The Belgian princes, the Crown Prince and his brother, are stated to be living in England—at Eton, to be particular. Nicholas II is given his family name, Romanoff, and is described as "ExEmperor of All the Russias," while Kamerad Lenine is no less than President and supreme commander of the Russian republic. The 1918 Almanach de Gotha has ceased to make any mention of the various British orders held by German princes, but the Kaiser has not renounced his honorary degree of the universities of Oxford and Cambridge.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF RAILROADS.

Director General McAdoo has announced that while the railroads are under the control of the Government it is futile to impose fines upon them for violations of the law and of the orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and it therefore becomes the duty of the Director General in the enforcement of the law and said orders to impose punishment for wilful and inexcusable violations thereof upon the person or persons responsible therefor.

It is also announced that when the prompt public transportation service requires it, employees will be required to work a reasonable amount of overtime, but excessive hours of employment will not be required.

Pending a disposition of the question of wages and hours, all requests of employees involving revisions of schedules or general changes affecting wages and hours will be held in abeyance. The question of wages when determined will be retroactive to January 1, 1918.

The Director General states that if he is notified of the location of specific supplies for transport to Europe and the port or ports in the United States to which such supplies should be sent he will guarantee the necessary transportation subject alone to interruptions from blizzards and floods.

All officers and employees of the railroads, says the Director General, now serve the Government and the public interest only. He asks them to get the spirit of this new era—a supreme devotion to country and an invincible determination to perform the imperative duties of the hour, cooperation, not antagonism; confidence, not suspicion; mutual helpfulness, not grudging performance; just consideration, not arbitrary disregard of each other's rights and feelings; and an earnest desire to serve the great public faithfully and efficiently. To save America, to save the world from despotism, we must work together.

THE DANGER OF TEMPORIZING.

Col. Henry Watterson, in the Louisville Courier-Journal, gives his readers some plain advice about peace talk. He says in part:

The end of the war is to be wrought not by penwork, however clever, but by the sword of the Lord and of Gideon; the "terms" are to be delivered out of the mouths of cannon; the lazy sons of peace who are too good to live and too proud to fight will have to put on something more than war paint and feathers before they can be trusted in the final equation to handle results. Down with tommyrot!

There are a few other things to be considered than "freedom, justice and respect for the principles of international law." We shall not treat with the Hohenzollern at all, nor with Germany, until Germany is born again. Meanwhile there are scores, many and bloody scores, to settle; the Lusitania and the Sussex; the Belgian horrors, especially the murder of Miss Cavell; the murderous air raids upon London and Paris and the undefended coast towns and hamlets. Even as we have suffered the Hun shall suffer.

"Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord," but heaven has heard the shrieks of drowning women—has seen the tiny hands of children stretched out in dumb entreaty from the bottom of the sea—and, in answer to both, another voice exclaims above the din of the tempest and the roar of battle, "Smite the Philistine hip and thigh!"

If we equivocate we are lost. Freedom in the United States requires not only destruction of autocrack in Germany but the total annihilation of militarism and the military spirit. If any power is left intact in Germany to make treaty with any other power, we are lost. If all government in Germany be not blotted out even as the Southern Confederacy in America was blotted out, we are lost. We have fought in vain, and all our sacrifices in blood and treasure will go for naught if we make not clean and sure work of it. We must smite the Philistine hip and thigh.

LAFAYETTE WINS IN AVIATION LEAGUE

Take Final Game From Jefferson School 31 to 1—Washington Wins From Franklin.

Final Standing

School	Machine	F.	W.	L.	Pct.
Lafayette	Wright	9	9	0	3975
Washington	Curtis	9	6	3	3275
Franklin	Dirigible	0	3	6	825
Jefferson	Zep	9	0	9	75

Two well played games were seen on the Y floor this afternoon in the Grammar School Aviation league.

In the first game Jefferson lost to Lafayette 31-1.

The second game was a very close contest and the winner was not decided until the last minutes play. The final outcome of this game was 7-6 in favor of the Washington School.

Junior S. S. B. B. League Games Third Series

Two games were played in the Junior Sunday School Basketball League last night on the "Y" court.

The first game between the Centenary and Central Christion was a fast game and as both teams were very evenly matched it was a fine exhibition from the spectators viewpoint.

At the end of the first half Central Christian was ahead 6-3 but by good team work and accurate basket shooting by Arter and Deatherage the Centenary five nosed out in the final few minutes play and won 12-9.

The second game between Northminster and Baptist was a walk away for the Baptist quintet. they winning hands down 40-0.

Westminster forfeited to Grace M. E. 2-0.

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

THE WORKDAY WORLD.

While we are bent and sweating beneath our wartime cares, let's not be quite forgetting our everyday affairs. The spring will be arriving before we wist or wot, and we should all be striving to have a garden plot. Oh, spade the garden under, spade every knoll and ton and grow string beans like thunder, for beans will win the war. The spring is fast approaching, with mild reviving rain, and conscience should be broaching a cleaning up campaign. Oh let us, neighbors, rally, to bear the trash away; the dead cat in the alley, the scattered leaves and hay; there'll be a plague to swat us, and mow our numbers down, if we don't hump, dod rot us, and brighten up the town. In language highfalutin we may, when work is done denounce the tooting Teuton, whose course will soon be run. But such a course is dubbish when there is work to do; we should be carting rubbish the noisome alleys thru. Now comes the season vernal, and we should all prepare to plant a seed or kernel, or raise a Belgian hare; to make two succotashes grow up where one has grown, that is the stuff that smashes the kaiser from his throne. Oh, buckle down, fair neighbor, tho toil you may abhor; get down to useful labor, for work will win the war.

LOCAL PRICES ON FOODS APPROVED BY COMMISSION

Price Interpretation Committee Has Announced Profits Allowed Retailers and Prices Which May Be Charged.

On this page appears the food price bulletin for Jackssonville prepared by the local price interpretation committee and approved by the U. S. food administration. The price interpretation committee includes M F. Dunlap, chairman; M. R. Fitch, W. E. Boston, W. A. Jenkinson and C. A. Fiedler. The grocers of Jacksonville in accordance with instructions of the food administration some time since named a committee on margins. This committee is to choose two of its number to represent the grocers on the interpretation committee.

A further part of the procedure was for two grocers to act in conjunction with a wholesale grocer and a wholesale produce dealer and the county food administrator in fixing the retail for certain commodities These prices, as already indicated, were prepared and submitted to the food administration for approval. These prices will remain in effect until changed by the price interpretation committee.

Maximum prices are given and the retailer can of course charge just as much less for any article as he chooses, but he cannot sell at prices in excess of the figures quoted. The prices given in the table show little variation from the prices already in effect, as it was found that the margins of profit being maintained here were about the same as those approved by the administration in other cities.

It is not the purpose of the food administration to take any drastic action but it seeks to bring about an equitable distribution of food and also to protect the public against any excess charges for necessities.

COURT MARTIAL IS SCHEDULED AT CAMP TAYLOR

Major Board is to Answer Various Charges—Shakeup in Medical Department Coming.

Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., March 6.—Men prominent in the medical world are expected to arrive Thursday to testify in the court martial of Major Milton H. Board, which will open Thursday. Major Board is charged with the violation of the eighty-fifth article of war, which covers many things.

The court martial was expected to convene Tuesday morning, but official orders postponed the trial to Thursday of this week. The case is expected to consume several days in the hearing of evidence.

Surgeon General Gorgas of Washington is expected as a witness, or if he does not come the head of a department will be here to express the medical department's views of the case. In addition at least two presidents of the American Medical association are expected for the trial.

That there is to be a big shakeup in the medical contingent of Camp Zachary Taylor began to seem probable when orders arrived from Washington relieving Major Luther Poust, chief sanitary inspector of the Eighty fourth division, from duty. The telegram did not state where Major Poust was to go, or when. Coming on the heels of the announcement that Lieut. Col. John H. Allen, camp Surgeon, was relieved from duty with the division as division surgeon, the indications point to a general shakeup of the medical arm.

It was only a few days ago that Lieut. Col. William A. Slack arrived here and assumed his duties as division surgeon in place of Colonel Allen.

MORGAN CO. WOMEN AND REGISTRATION.

The Registration Committee has been trying to get the women of the State to register for war service.

The Governor of Illinois issued a proclamation asking the women of the state to signify their willingness to be of service in this crisis. This registration was necessary, in order to get a census of the woman power of the state and to know how many women there are who can be depended upon to take the place of the men who have gone to the front as postwomen, taxicab drivers, chaffeurs, census takers, bank clerks, gas inspectors, elevator women, etc., and also to know how many women may be depended upon to look after the various philanthropic and charitable agencies in which women have so long been interested.

Our men are now in the trenches, in the mud and wet, living in it, sleeping in it, eating in it, bravely facing danger every hour. They have given up comfort and pleasure, home and family, everything they hold most dear, some of them have given up their lives. Women are not asked to make any such sacrifices no matter what we do, but we are asked by the government to unite in one big organization, and to work together for the successful prosecution of the war.

The whole idea of this organization is, that if any Governmental emergency should arise in which women could be of help, such assistance could be secured thru this organization in a few hours.

Louise De Koren Bowen,
Chairman State Council of Defense.

Fiery Irritations of the Skin Show Your Blood Needs Purifying

A Sluggish, Clogged-Up Circulation Causes Skin Eruptions.

Eczema is called a skin disease because the tiny little germs which cause the disease set up their colony on some portion of the skin's surface, and here spread their irritation that soon begins to burn like flames of fire.

There are other forms of so-called diseases of skin, such as tetter, boils, pimples, acne, erysipelas, scaly cruptions, blotches and rough irritations, that are a source of much pain and annoyance.

And, while these disorders are generally referred to as skin diseases, they are really traceable to a disordered condition of the blood, and they are never experienced by anyone whose blood is free from impurities. If you are a victim of any form of these painful and irritating disorders of the skin, causing, as they do, such constant annoyance, you canont expect any real benefit from the local treatment so generally used, such as lotions, ointments, salves, etc.

You are simply postponing a cure and adding to your days of torturing discomfort when you waste time on such remedies applied to the surface. You must reach the cause of the disorder, the actual source of the pain, before you can hope to stop the pain itself. The cause of all of these so-called skin diseases is in the blood, and you cannot reach the blood by external remedies applied to the surface.

Give your blood a thorough cleansing with S. S. S., the great old blood purifier, and you in this way eliminate all impurities which cause skin diseases and other derangements. This is the logical treatment, and it has proven its great worth in hundreds of cases because it is a purely vegetable remedy and cleanses the blood of all foreign substances, and fills the veins with a fresh supply of rich, red and vigorous blood. Go to your drug store and get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and get on the right treatment, and waste no further time on washes, ointments and lotions, that cannot reach below the surface. If your case needs special medical advice, it can be had without cost by writing to Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 83 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

REFUSE TO EFFECT COMPLETE MERGER

Delegates to Prohibition Convention Will Co-operate and Federate With New National Party.

Chicago, March. 6.—Delegates to the National Prohibition convention tonight voted to co-operate and federate with the new national party in the furtherance of certain aims, but refused to effect a complete merger.

The decision was reached when the delegates, after a test vote on the resolution had failed to result in a two thirds majority adopted a substitute resolution by Dr. Charles Scanlon of Pittsburgh by a vote of 203 to 75 that the prohibition party retain its name and activities but that its national committee meet with the nationalists committee to co-operate and federate in furthering the election of state legislators and United States congressman favoring the platforms of both parties.

Altho Dr. Scanlon's resolution was made unanimous on motion of W. G. Burbaker of Illinois, who fathered the resolution for a complete merger, delegates from many states declared they would go over to the national party and disband their state organizations. Such action will have to be taken at state conventions, but some of the states which it is said will bolt are Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Oregon, Washington and Kansas.

The final action came after two days of badgering, heckling and debate which resulted a deadlock in which neither those for nor those against the complete merger could cast the two thirds majority necessary. At times each side was able to muster a majority for the delegates becoming weary with the long hours of argument, repeatedly changed their votes. The anti-merger faction lead by Dr. Scanlon was in the majority apparently at the opening of the convention but the merger faction gained strength until they had a majority. The test vote on the first day on the question of whether a two thirds majority was necessary to pass the merger was won by the anti-merger faction, averwhelmingly.

Dr. Scanlon's resolution was introduced as a compromise and was bitterly opposed. vigorous debate took place between Dr. Scanlon and Mr. Brubaker during which hew was charged with "Kaiserism and attempting to run the convention."

Virgil G. Hinshaw, prohibition national committee chairman, at the close of the convention outlined the ways in which tthey would co-operae with the national party. War prohibition within 90 days, final action on the constitutional prohibition amendment within 15, election of state legislators and United States congressmen favoring the two parties are the chief things which would be sought. He announced that W. J. Calderwood of Minnesota would run for the United States congress on the national ticket and that John Spargo of Vermont probably would run for congress. Both would be supported by the prohibitionists he said. After sending telegrams to President Wilson and both houses of congress urging immediate war prohibition and pledging its loyalty, the convention adjourned.

have families there or are residing in the city. Numerous telegrams of protest recently have been received from pastors of churches and other representative citizens urging that the saloons at Vallejo be closed in order to protect the sailors."

In another letter the Mare Island commandant wrote of having personally arrested an enlisted man in the back room of a resort in Vallejo known as the "Liberty Inn."

"This 'Liberty Inn,' formerly the 'Hidelberg Inn'," the letter continued, "has changed its name but not its business. It is kept by a German who is a henchman of the aforesaid brewer (a German who is reputed to practically control the saloon element of Vallejo and the municipal government) and I have had these premises under suspicion for a long time and have reported by observations to the bureau of investigation, federal department of justice, San Francisco."

Visions of "Dry" Chicago

Chicago, March 6.—Visions of Chicago as "dry" following the first announcement of the government's intention to abolish the sale of liquor within five miles of naval training stations and camps, resulted today in the hurried calling of conferences of hotel men and saloonkeepers. The first interpretation of the order was that, because of the location of a naval camp at Grant Park in the heart of the city, it would effect all downtown Chicago. Later reports which specified that it applied only to the Great Lakes Naval training station in this district dissipated the gloom in many quarters.

At the Great Lakes Station which is 35 miles from Chicago, it was said there was not a town within five miles of the institution in which the sale of liquor is licensed and that the order will serve only to check the sale of intoxicants by persons who have been running "blind pigs."

CLAIM IGNORANCE OF PRESENCE OF U. S. FORCE

PARIS, Tuesday, March 5.—The Germans persist in declaring that they are not aware of the presence of American troops on the western front, writes the corespondent of the Temps with the British army in France. This, he says, may be pretense or the result of what they have been taught, but all prisoners, officers and privates taken in the latest minor operations when asked about the Americans invariably reply:

"Yes, we know there is a division in France and there never will be more. That is not enough to scare us."

VOICE DOUBT

ATTORNEYS PRESENT VIEWS OF THE PACKERS

Review Six Questions Being Arbitrated Before Federal Judge Alschuler Judge May Take Case Under Consideration Friday.

Chicago, March 6.—Attorneys Carl Meyer and James G. Condon today presented the view of the packers on the six questions being arbitrated before Federal Judge Samuel Alschuler in the wage dispute.

The entire day was taken up by arguments of the packers' lawyers. Tomorrow Attorney Frank P. Walsh, representing the employes will deliver his closing argument after which Judge Alschuler will take the case under consideration for a decision. Counsel for the packers opposed the adoption of either the actual or basic eight hour day. They argued the actual eight hour law would limit production during the war and that the basic eight hour day with the necessary overtime is impracticable without reconstructing plants. They insisted that at present the men and women doing the same class of work in the packing plants receive the same pay.

The only other demand of the men to which they took exception was the request for an increase in wages of $1 a day.

Attorneys for the packers expressed the view that this rate was excessive and if adopted might cause widespread dissatisfaction in industries where the rate for unskilled labor is less.

The packers they said expected to be required to grant a substantial increase in wages by the ruling of the arbitrator but they did not venture to suggest just what the rate should be.

The arbitrator was urged to disregard the family living budgets prepared by economists in fixing the wage scale.

Attorney James C. Condon closed the argument in behalf of the packers at the afternoon session. He excluded from consideration the question of trade unionism which he said was not involved in the present controversy. The only question to be arbitrated he said is the fixing of the hours and wages of the men. He said Mr. Armour, the Swifts and the two Morris boys inherited the great packing industries from their parents. They all had sufficient wealth to enable them to live in idleness and luxury if they chose.

Instead of pursuing that course they decided to accept the great responsibility put upon them, the speaker said, and are giving their energy, strength and lives to the development and maintenance of this great vital industry.

Mr. Cudahy and Mr. Wilson, he said, began as boys in the packing business and rose to their present positions by hard work and ability.

The attorney declared the actual 8 hour day impracticable under present conditions. The basic eight hour day, he said, would penalize the packers on meeting the demands of the government in war times.

Up to Court of Appeals

Chicago, March 6—Whether Francis J. Heney, counsel for the federal trade commission would be permitted to examine the letters and documents recently taken from the private office vault of Henry Veeder, counsel for Swift & Co., packers, now rests with the United States circuit court of appeals.

Judges Baker, Evans and Kohlsaat of the reviewing court listened today to arguments on the validity of the search warrant under which the Veeder files, characterized by the government as tending to prove the commission of felonies by the packers were seized by the United States marshal. At the outset of the argument the court of appeals held with the government on the technical point that the order of the lower court denying a motion to quash the search warrant was not a reviewable final order. This condition was promptly cured by counsel for Mr. Veeder stipulating that they would stand on the denying order as final, waive all right to question facts set forth in the affidavit and search warrant and submit the case to the court of appeals on the question of the legal sufficiency of the search warrant and the deposition and affidavit of Hugh McIsaac, federal commission examiner on whose petition of the Veeder appeal to have the writ the warrant was issued. In support declared invalid and the seized papers and files returned to him, Elwood G. Goodman and John J. Healy Veeder's counsel argued that there was no proper basis for the issuance of the writ. With repeated citation of authorities and frequent reference to the wording of the affidavit and the warrant they contended that no probable cause to believe that felonies had been committed had been shown; that the federal constitution and the espionage statute under which the writ was issued, prohibit the issuance of a search order without a showing of fact; that the seizure of the papers was not in accordance with law; that no felony had become charged and that the issuance and serving of the writ was an abuse of the process of the court.

Counsel pointed out tht the affidavit was based on belief and not on stated acts.

District Attorney C. F. Clyne and Joseph B. Fleming contended that the deposition of McIsaac and his affidavit was ample ground for the issuance of the writ and that the general description of the papers and documents seized was sufficient basis for the writ.

The papers at stake according to Mr. Heney who is conducting the federal trade commission investigation into the packing house industry are believed to contain valuable information essential to the further investigation of the packers.

SEEK REPRESENTATION

Washington, March 6.—The situation in eastern ship yards as it affects the wood-working trades today awaited the outcome of another request to President Wilson that the carpenters be given representation on the wage adjustment committee in the shipbuilding disputes.

CAREER OF BERNARD BARUCH REVIEWED

New Chairman of War Industries Board Virtually Unknown Before the War Began—Was Among First Appointees in Council of National Defense.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—President Wilson's appointment of Bernard Baruch to succeed Daniel Willard as chairman of the war industries board has served to call public atention anew to a man of whom much has been heard in connection with the mobilization of American industries and the strengthening of the "second line of defense" since the war began. Mr. Baruch has come to be regarded as one of the notable "finds" of the war. Before the conflict began his name was virtually unknown outside of the immediate circle in which he moved. Today he occupies a high place in official estimation, and Washington has come to look upon him as a man of whom much more is likely to be heard before the war is over.

Bernard M. Baruch, or "Barney" Baruch, as he is better known to the public, is a product of New York City. When he was old enough to go to work he found employment in a brokerage house at a wage of $3 a week. He did not exactly polish up the handle of the big front door, but he weighed the mails of the concern that employed him so carefully that his compensation was soon raised to $5. Then he got a job in a small bank, at a small salary. Later, he began, in a small way, with a big bond and stock concern. At the end of six years he was able to withdraw from a partnership in that house with $1,000,000 in his own name. Thereupon he started in business for himself, attended sedulously to his own affairs, read the newspapers carefully, and one day discovered a "but" in a speech by Mr. Lloyd George, which enabled him to go into the New York Stock Exchange and "clean up" an immense profit.

The world might never have know anything about this transaction if he had not been named, in the course of a sensational episode, as one of those who had been apprised in advance of the forthcoming of the famous "peace note" dispatched to all the Powers by President Wilson some time before the latter decided that the United States could not, in honor, keep out of the war.

Before a committee of Congress, "Barney" Baruch testified that he had no advance knowledge whatever with regard to the peace note, but he made no attempt to conceal the fact that, from his own judgment of eisxting conditions, based partly upon a passage in an interview with Mr. Lloyd George, published in London about the same time, and telegraphed to New York, he made his trades on the probability that something would be said or done that might be taken to indicate, on the side of the Allies, a willingness to negotiate with the enemy. Altho Mr. Lloyd George was misunderstood or misquoted, the interview contained a passage which seemed to indicate that, while the peace overtures made by the imperial German chancellor could only be rejected without qualifications, the door would not be closed against a possible understanding.

Mr. Baruch, it will be recalled, came thru the congressional investigation with a clean bill. How pleasing this circumstance was to President Wilson very few knew at the time, but as a matter of fact, any other outcome would have been extremely disagreeable to the Executive. The reason is not hard to give.

As Mr. Baruch increased in wealth he was invited to accept various honorary positions in his home city. Thus he was given a seat in the board of trustees of the College of the City of New York. Here one of his closest associates was William F. McCombs, who was later to manage the campaign for the nomination and election of Woodrow Wilson in 1912. Thru Mr. McCombs, Mr. Baruch met the then Governor of New Jersey, and something in the nature of a personal and political friendship sprang up between the two. Mr. Baruch first became interested in Mr. Wilson because his friend, McCombs, was interested in him, and as time went on, he became interested in Woodrow Wilson for his own sake.

During the first years of his administration Mr. Wilson did not give Mr. Baruch a thought, perhaps, as a possible office holder nor it may be presumed, did Mr. Baruch ever give a thought to filling a public office. But when war was declared Mr. Wilson thought he saw where a man of "Barney" Baruch's talents might be made very useful to the country. When the Council of National Defense was created Mr. Baruch was one of the first appointees. His record in that capacity evidently has been so satisfactory that the President decided he was the man to fill the important post of chairman of the war industries board.

MRS. DANSKIN REPRESENTS DEFENSE SOCIETY HERE

The American Defense society which is widening the scope of its activities has appointed Mrs Liillian I. Danskin as a member off the Woman's National committee to represent this district. The particular work of the society just now is in the endeavor to impress upon the American people the fact that there are German agents everywhere in this country whose activities touch both the political and industrial life of the country. Germany is mobilied to the last man and woman as if America is to win this war the citizenship must be mobilized in the same way.

The defense society is seeking to indicate to men and women of the ways in which they may serve their country at home by practicing loyalty and sacrifice in various patriotic ways. Some of the prominent women who are identified with the work of the defense society are Mrs. J. W. Harriman, Mrs. N. L. Beekman, Mrs Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, and other members of the Woman's National Committee.

COMPLAINT IS ISSUED AGAINST SEARS, ROEBUCK

Federal Trade Commission Charges Unfair Methods of Competition.

Washington, March 6.—Complaint was issued today against Sears, Roebuck and Company, of Chicago, by the Federal Trade Commission, charging unfair methods of competition in the conduct of its business.

The complaint summons the firm to answer a charge that it has advertised sugar for sale at three to four cents a pound, actually at a loss but only upon condition that certain amounts of other groceries be purchased for which a sufficient price is charged to make a profit on the combined sale.

The complaint further charges that Sears, Roebuck and Company, with the purpose of injuring competitors has circulated catalogues representing the quality of merchandise sold by its competitors as inferior

The complaint charged that the low price of sugar was made for the purpose of lessening competition and creating a monopoly

A hearing has been set for April 11.

Officials of the Sears, Roebuck company said today that the sale of sugar on the selling plan complained of by the federal trade commission was discontinued last June when a shortage of sugar became apparent. They say they have co-operated with the federal food administration and are at a loss to understand why a complaint should be made at this time.

LOTS OF PIES.

An elderly gentleman was speaking recently about the soldier boys and their food yesterday when he remarked that he was reminded of an incident of the Civil war. A large body of troops came home from the war and in those days the veterans were fortunate if they had enough hard tack, salt pork (which they didn't call by that name) and coffee so when they arrived it was suggested that pies would taste wonderfully good and accordingly a canvass of the place, about five thousand inhabitants, was made and a thousand delicious pies were donated, one for each man and it is needless to add that they were fully appreciated. It is well that the men in the service now have better fare and they surely deserve it.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS IS FIFTY YEARS OLD

From Meagre Beginnings the University Has Developed Until It Now Includes Many Departments of Instruction and a Student Body of More Than 5,000.

Urbana, Ill., March.—The University of Illinois is fifty years old this month. On March 2, 1868, the institution was started as the "Illinois Industrial University" in a small brick building on the present site of the baseball bleachers. J. N. Matthews, who later graduated with the Class of 1872, was the first student to register. He became a well known "prairie poet," and died at Mason, Ill., seven years ago.

The early years of the University of Illinois were spent mainly in what was called the "University Building" a modest brick affair shaped like a village school, on what as now "Illinois Field". The students lived as well as learned in this edifice; their room rent was a dollar a month, with other expenses on the same scale. They took any studies they wished.

"The students are competent judges of their own tastes and needs," said Regent Gregory. "To attempt to impose any study upon them without their consent would be simple oppression."

Whether the regent stuck to this doctrine very long, the fading records of the time do not say.

The faculty at the start was composed of John M. Gregory, the president; three instructors, two assistants, a head farmer, and two visiting professors who came upon the scene once or twice a year to deposit lectures. A rabble of live stock wandered unhindered (by the owners) through the university farm—everything from droves of horses and cattle to suckling pigs.

The old "University Building" was viewed of course as little more than a temporary shelter; all thoughts were turned toward the coming new building, "University Hall". This was to cost $150,000. The state legislature took its time in providing the cash—so much time, in fact, that the trustees grew tired of looking at the unfinished walls and completed it by selling Champaign county bonds. Meanwhile the roof of the old building had melted in the sun, the basement brick had crumgled, and a little later (1879) a cyclone blew off one corner so that the trustees offered what was left for sale in 1881. Thus began the movement south of the university center of population, which continues still at the rate of an eighth of an inch a day.

The cornerstone of University Hall was laid in 1871. It was dedicated in 1873. Meanwhile, another building had arisen—the "Drill Hall and Mechanical Shops." This housed the College or Engineering, the Military Department, the student newspaper, and various odds and ends. The next building to go up was the Chemical Laboratory, in which is now enclosed the College of Law. The old Armory was completed in time for the commencement doings in 1890. In the following ten years the campus north of University Hall was pretty well bricked up with new structures, besides the main building of the College of Agriculture and the ChemistryLaboratory. The university had in all 27 buildings when President James took charge in 1904; the number has more than doubled since.

These last thirteen years have been in many ways the most remarkable in the history of the university. The faculty and student bodies have doubled in numbers, (increased four times in agriculture) the biennial income has almost trebled, and the number of books in the library has grown five-fold. A book of almost two millions of words is required to list the official actions of the board of trustees in a biennium.

From meagre beginnings the university has developed into an institution that includes 48 departments of instruction, 600 courses, in instructional and administrative staff of 836, and a student body well more than 5,000 in spite of the fact that war sent 1,238 students into military service.

Coincident with the fiftieth birthday of the university comes the announcement that President Edmund J. James has completed the longest term of office of any president who has served the University of Illinois. President James' administration dates from Sept. 1, 1904, a term to date of thirteen years, six months.

The next longest term of office was that of the first president, Dr. John Milton Gregory, who was elected to office March 13, 1867, and resigned Aug. 31, 1880, a term of thirteen years, five months and nineteen days.

The second president of the university, Dr. S. H. Peabody, served as the head of the institution from August 15, 1880, to June 10, 1891, a period of ten years, nine months and 26 days.

Dr. Andrew Sloan Draper, the third president, took up his work Aug. 1, 1894, and resigned on Jan. 26, 1904, making his term nine years five months and 26 days.

OLD PRESCRIPTION FOR WEAK KIDNEYS

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that, so many people claim, it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcels post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Jacksonville Daily Journal. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

GIRLS! HAVE A MASS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR, SOFT, GLOSSY, WAVY

A Small Bottle Destroys Dandruff and Doubles Beauty of Your Hair

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. —Adv.

OLD JACKSONVILLE

The Morgan County Fair Grounds

By Ensley Moore

(Member Illinois State Historical Society.)

One of the most historic spots in this county of Morgan is the last tract of land known as our Fair Grounds. No one need be told that this locality is on the continuation of West State street, about a quarter of a mile west of the central building of the School for the Deaf. And, at present the old Fair Grounds are a part of the State's holding of real estate of the institution for the deaf.

The Original Grounds.

In Eames' History of Jacksonville and Morgan County, in the list of "First Things," it is quoted by Mrs. J. R. Bailey, from the "Sentinel," that a bill was introduced into the legislature in 1855 to incorporate the Morgan Co. Agricultural and Mechanical Association. It is not stated whether the bill was passed or not. Presumably it was, and the writer thinks there had been some sort of a beginning of the same sort earlier, and of which the incorporation became a natural sequence.

At any rate, in 1857 there were Fair Grounds in the region since known as the Third Ward of the city of Jacksonville, which land was west of Hardin Ave., and north of Morton Ave.; due north of the present Morton School. There were ten or twenty acres of land which were surrounded by the usual high board fence. These grounds were soon after sold, and, in the fall of 1858 the Fair Grounds west of the School for the Deaf were opened to the public for the annual exhibit.

The Morgan Co. Fair Goaunds.

There were about forty acres of well timbered and attractive land in the new site, which were well watered by a "run" and by wells of good water. Of course the grounds were pretty rough and unfinished for that first exhibition, but there was a "little ring" in the center, and "the big ring" further out, and inclosing the first. There were plenty of stumps, and the few buildings were cheap and unattractive. But the "kids," male and female, got there, and the pretty girls held their informal receptions to the surrounding swains.

In 1859 the Fair was held without much improvement of conditions.

But in 1860

The State Fair

came to us, and great improvements were made. The grounds were cleared, rings improved, a three story stand put up in the center of the little ring, which was two thirds encircled by a handsome amphitheatre, under which were booths. Suitable and respectable buildings were erected for exhibition halls, evergreens studded the little ring, and the whole lay out had become a thing of beauty, creditable to the county and to the state.

The exhibition was opened about the first week in September, and the Hon. Schuyler Colfax, of Indiana, made the opening address. He was then a member of Congress, afterwards speaker of the national House, and finally vice-president of the United States during Gen. Grant's first term as President.

The Fair was largely attended, and the movement of animals and vehicles made a cloud of dust, in day time, from State street north almost to the Mauvaisterre. The ground next south of the Fair was utilized as a camp and hundreds stopped there in tents and covered wagons. The School for the Deaf was used for lodging and feeding the crowds in attendance, as were Jacksonville Female Academy and the Ill. Conference Female College. These schools found a bonanza in their hospitalities. Visitors thronged the town, small shows appeared down town, hitching yards were outside the big fence, hackmen came from neighboring places, and "there was a hot time in the old town" for the while.

The small boys of 1860 assiduously attended to everything interesting to them, as may be found out today by "pumping" gray-headed old citizens. One feature of special note was expected to be Fawkes' Steam Plow.

One or two days an attempt was made to show the thing off in a field north of the Fair Grounds, and across the "Great Western" railroad, now the Wabash. But the steam would not plow, and the old thing was thought a failure. Coal oil was then getting to be popular in lamps, but gasoline had not shown its motive power to the world. Still Mr. Fawkes had seen a need, and gone part of the way to meet it, altho others beat him to the success he sought.

A Bigger Show

The Fair was soon past, but never forgotten by the youngsters of the time, but a bigger and longer exhibition was soon to he staged in its place.

The 14th Ill. Regiment

Our first two companies went to the War April 22, 1861, and April 27th a company of volunteers came from Petersburg, entered the Fair Grounds, and soon the place was known as "Camp Duncan," in honor of our former governor.

Other companies came, and, on May 4, 1861, State Adjutant-General T. S. Mather swore the 14th into the service of the State.

May 25th, Capt, Pitcher of the U. S. Army—afterwards a brigadier-general—swore the regiment into the United States service. The occasion was honored by the presence of our own great War Governor, Richard Yates, who mounted a horse and reviewed the troops.

The original roster of the organization was: Col. John M. Palmer; Lt. Col. Amory K. Johnson; Major, Jonathan Morris; Adjutant, Robt. P. McKnight; Quartermaster, John F. Nolte; Surgeon, Geo. T. Allen, and Chaplain, Wm. J. Rutledge.

June 19, 1861, the regiment left for Quincy and the field.

Col. Palmer became a Major-General; Lt. Henry Case a Brev. Brigadier-General, as did Capt. Cyrus Hall. Capt. Milton S. Littlefield became a Brigadier-General, and others were promoted in the regiment.

The 101st Regiment

This command was raised in Morgan County, rendezvoused at Camp Duncan, and was sworn into the United States service Sept. 2, 1862.

Its original roster was: Col. Chas. H. Fox; Lt. Col., Wm. J. Wyatt; Major, Jesse T. Newman; Adjutant, H. O. Cassell; Quartermaster, Jno. M. Snyder; Surgeon, Clarke Roberts; Chaplain, Wingate Newman. Capt. John B. Sage brought the survivors home as Lt. Col. in command.

The regiment left here Oct. 6, 1862, going to Cairo, soon going into active service in the Army of the Tennessee.

The 21st Regiment.

The most notable commander who gathered his men in Camp Duncan was Col. U. S. Grant of the 21st Ill., who bivouaced there for dinner and rest July 5, 1861, on his first march to glory and the Presidency of the United States.

Lt. John H. Catlin

A company of cavalry, Capt Delano, with John H. Catlin as 1st lieutenant stopped at Camp Duncan one night in 1861, marching from Quincy to Springfield.

Since the War

Many interesting events, besides the annual Fairs have taken place on "the old camp ground."

There have been 4th of July celebrations, religious meetings of the camp-meeting order, an encampment of the "Sons of Veterans," society picnics and

Old Settlers Meetings

The old and young people, too, gathered in the Fair Grounds many times and enjoyed speeches, reminiscences and meeting each other. Some of the meetings were attended by thousands, and were really great occasions.

The Fair Grounds were beautiful and delightful for public gatherings, and it was when the grand trees were cut down, the gates closed, and the great old place was turned into a pasture.

The Seed-Corn Situation for 1918

By W. L. BURLISON and GEORGE H. DUNGAN
University of Illinois

The seed-corn situation in Illinois is the most serious in the history of the state. Seed corn is scarce. Many counties will be unable to supply their own seed. This means that large quantities must be brought in from other localities. Much has been published to discourage shipping seed in from district sections, for in most cases marked differences in soil and climate result in poor yields from the imported seed. The general rule has been not to recommend the use of the imported seed-corn, but the application of this rule can be carried too far even in normal times, and during the present critical condition which confronts the Illinois producer, a more liberal attitude must be assumed if seed corn is to be available for all who wish to plant this crop next May.

For the present season, seed must be shipped from central or more southern counties to areas in the northern part of the state. The University of Illinois has some specific data bearing on the movement of corn from Urbana, Champaign county, in central Illinois, to DeKalb, DeKalb

GERMINATION TESTS

A—A poor germination. The ear from which these kernels came should be thrown into the feed crib.

B—A test that indicates weakness. In a year of seed scarcity this ear may be as good as the average. A second set of kernels should be tested.

C—A good eight-day test.

county, in northern Illinois, a distance of 125 miles in latitude. These figures are submitted because they seem to have a value in throwing light upon the question whether imported seed may be expected to produce satisfactory results. The soils on which this corn was grown are very similar. Both would be considered very good corn land. The original seed was produced near Urbana and sent each year to DeKalb for planting.

Comparative yields of corn grown at Urbana and at DeKalb from seed produced near Urbana, Illinois (bushels per acre):

Variety	Years compared	Urbana	DeKalb
Reids Yellow Dent	1908-1913, 1915	57.8	57.9
Leaming	1908-1913	56.5	59.2
Riley's Favorite	1912-1916	56.6	54.5
Silvermine	1907-1914	56.9	57.9
Illinois High Ear	1907-1915	43.2	41.5
Illinois Low Ear	1907-1915	51.3	49.9

It will be observed from the above figures that the yields for Urbana and DeKalb vary but slightly, and in the present emergency these differences would appear negligible. At DeKalb, however, the corn is not always so well matured as at Urbana.

The score card, which has often been used as a guide in selecting seed corn, must be discarded for this season.

Practical experience and the results of investigation have shown that fancy points are not necessarily associated with high yield. The University of Illinois has figures which seem to show that small ears selected from the crib may yield about as much as larger ears. It should be kept in mind that these figures are based on crib selection, and that this method is not to be recommended in normal years.

This year in order to get corn that will grow it will be necessary to disregard many of the points which have been considered important. If necessary, we must sacrifice everything for strong, vigorous germination.

From every section of the state reports have been received which indicate that most of the corn saved for seed is very low in germination. This means that in most cases every ear of seed must be tested, altho if a composite test shows a germination of 95 percent the individual ear test is not very important. This composite test may be made as follows:

Go thru the crib and pick out 100 ears which would ordinarily be considered fit for seed; select six kernels from the ears according to the method described later under the rag-doll test, and place them in some sort of a germinator. If, by the above method, a test of 95 percent is obtained (at least 570 kernels showing good germination), further examination of the corn in this respect will be unnecessary.

It is probable, however, that very little corn will be acceptable by the composite test. Therefore, the individual ear test will be found necessary. This means that every ear must be tried for germination. There are numerous methods of applying this individual ear test, and there are many kinds of commercial testers on the market, but homemade devices are as good as those which cost money. Two general types of homemade testers and general suggestions for their management are described below.

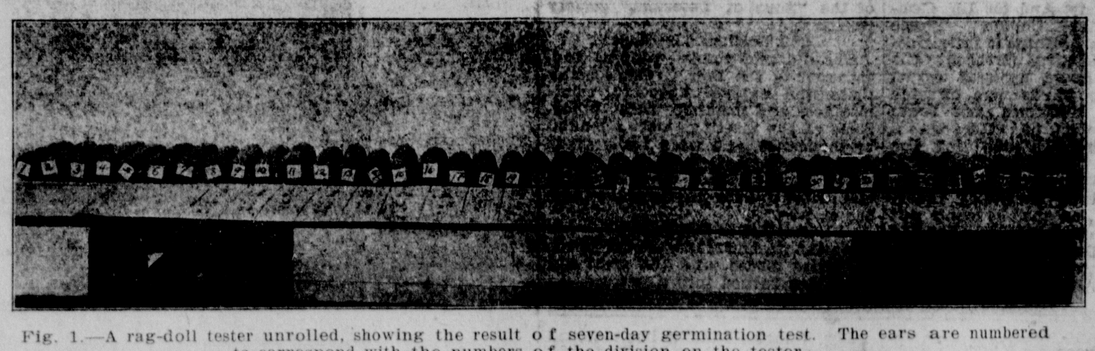

Fig. 1.—A rag-doll tester unrolled, showing the result of seven-day germination test. The ears are numbered to correspond with the numbers of the division on the tester.

The Rag-Doll Tester

The rag-doll tester is suggested for the following reasons:

1. It will, if properly handled, give a reliable index of the vitality of seed corn.
2. It is cheap and easily made.
3. It is simple in operation, and takes no more time than other more expensive testers.
4. As a rule, there is little difficulty experienced with molds which develop in certain other testers.
5. It is easily disinfected.
5. Counting the grains is less difficult, because the entire kernel with its roots can be observed.
7. The rag-doll tester is small, and "dolls" can be stored away in a limited space.

(Note—The rag-doll tester was first used and described by the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station.)

Making the Tester—Cut common muslin into strips 5 to 7 feet long and 10 inches wide. Hem the edge in order to prevent raveling. Then leaving at each end an unmarked area 8 to 10 inches deep, divide the strip of cloth down the center with a heavy line which cannot be easily erased and which will not blur upon wetting. Mark this area off into rectangles 3 inches wide and 5 inches long by crossing the center line perpendicularly with lines 3 inches apart. The tester is now ready for filling.

Arranging the Ears—Place the ears in a convenient location where they will not be disturbed. The ears should be numbered to correspond with the squares in the tester. These may be placed in consecutive order on a table, but numbering them is better (See Fig 1.)

Preparing the "Doll" for the Test.—First dip the tester in water, then wring gently, and spread it on a table convenient height for comfortable work. The cloth when slightly moist will be more easily handled, and the grains will not slip about on the tester before it is rolled up.

Removing and Placing the Kernels—Six kernels from each ear should be used in each division of this tester. The grains should be placed germside up, and all the tips should point in the same direction in order to make possible the rapid reading of results at the end of the test. Remove one grain about two inches from the butt. Turn the ear one-fourth around and remove a kernel from the middle of the ear. Turn the ear again one-fourth around in the same direction as before and remove a grain two inches from the tip. Holding the ear in the same position, remove a kernel about two inches from butt. Turn the ear and repeat the above operation, taking a kernel from the middle and one two inches from the tip. Thus, when the ear has been turned around once, six kernels will have been removed: two from the butt, two from the middle, and two from the tip; and each of the two grains from the butt, the middle, and the tip will have come from opposite sides of the ear.

Rolling the "Doll" and Germinating the Corn.—Roll the cloth, with the grains, firmly but not tightly around a stick or a small piece of wire

80 degrees F., and let it remain for about ten or fifteen hours. At the end of this period, pour off the water and store the tester in a warm room. A box, a bucket, or a moist sack may be placed over the roll so screening, bent in the form of a cylinder, for a core (Fig. 2). Place around each end, and the center is desired, a string or a rubber band (Fig. 3). Place the roll in a bucket of water with a temperature of about that it will not dry out, but some allowance should be made for ventilation. A number of "dolls" may be used at the same time, making it possible to test a large quantity of corn quickly. It requires about two yards of 36-inch muslin to each 1¼ bushels of corn tested.

Fig. 2.—The tester should be rolled firmly but not tightly around a stick or small cardboard mailing tube as a core.

At the end of five to eight days the count may be made and the germination test recorded.

Observing Results and Discarding Ears—Untie the string, or slip off the rubber bands, and unroll the doll carefully so that no kernels are displaced. Note the germination of the kernels in each rectangle and count those good that show strong, vigorous shoots and roots from all six kernels (see first illustration.) Ears showing one or two kernels with weak shoots and roots should be discarded or laid out and retested. If the same results are obtained in the second test, the ear should be discarded. All ears in the test that show more than two kernels with weak shoots and roots should be thrown out at once. If only one kernel of the six from any one of the ears fails to grow, and the others are good, the ear should be retested; but if no better results are obtained in the second test, the ear should be thrown into the feed crib. All ears with more than one dead kernel among the six kernels in the test should be thrown out immediately.

Fiz. 3.—The Rag-Doll rolled and ready for soaking.

After each test the cloth should be sterilized by boiling in order to guard against trouble with molds when using it again.

The Sawdust and the Sand-Box Tester

The sawdust box is a favorite type of tester. Construct a box 24 by 30 inches, and 3 inches deep, inside measurements, and fill to within an inch of the top with sawdust which has been thoroly moistened. It is best to soak this material for 10 to 12 hours before placing it in the test box. When the sawdust is put into the container, pack it firmly and smooth it down even, to within about one inch of the top. Place stout muslin over the sawdust and tack it securely to the edges of the box; then rule it into 2-inch squares. Number the squares and then take from ear ear six grains as described for the rag-doll method, and place them on the squares, being careful that they are placed on numbers corresponding to the numbers of the ears from which they have been taken. Put these ears away where they will not be disturbed.

When the box is filled, cover the grains with a clean cloth, and moisten cloth and grain. Place moistened sawdust over the top, and if this material should become somewhat dry it should be moistened as occasion demands.

After six to eight days at room temperature, a count may be made and all poor ears discarded. The same rigid method of elimination must be followed here as indicated for the final count and rejection in the rag-doll test.

The sand box is very commonly used by corn growers. It is made in the same way as that indicated for the sawdust box, the only difference being that sand is employed instead of sawdust. The sand is moistened before the grains are put in place. The grains are usually pushed into the sand point downward, or they may be pressed into the sand with the germ side up. Glass may be put over the tester, in which case the germination and growth of the grains may be observed. More frequently, however, layers of moistened cloth are put over the sand. The grains from different ears are kept separate by means of wires. It is suggested that sand gives a more even moisture supply and more even temperatur than sawdust.

Choice of Variety

For Northern Illinois.—Continued tests have shown that for northern Illinois the leading high-yielding varieties which have been grown for a minimum of four years are Western Plowman, Riley's Favorite, Griffith's Early Dent, Reid's Yellow Dent, Hecker's Red and Funk's 90 Day.

For Central Illinois—At Urbana, seventeen varieties of corn have been under test for five years or more. Reid's Yellow Dent, Boone County White, Leaming, Silvermine, Riley's Favorite, Champion White Pearl, Golden Eagle, Farmer's Interest, Johnson County White, and Beatty's Yellow are all high-yielding strains.

For Southern Illinois—On well fertilized land in southern Illinois, the leading high-yielding varieties tested for a minimum of four years are Funk's 90 Day, Reid's Yellow Dent, Perrine's White Pearl, Chinese Poor Land, Grave's Yellow Dent, Champion White Pearl, and Silvermine. On unfertilized land, Champion White Pearl, Perrine's White Pearl, and Esterly's White have been the highest yielders for three years.

For a further discussion of varieties, see Bulletin 191 of the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station. Early Varieties should be selected when the crop is to be grown for grain alone. Later maturing varieties may be seeded for silage. This will help to make the best use of early varieties, which must be used in the northern part of the state and the supply of which at best is very limited.

Senreco THE TOOTH PASTE THAT REALLY CLEANS

Mr. Robert Williams,
Galesburg, Mo.
December 27th, 1917.

Dear Sir:

You are right when you say in yours of December 24th that Senreco is a remarkably good tooth paste and that it has a strong story to tell, but the difficulty lies in putting that story in such language as will convince the public.

The Senreco story of a medicinal paste that not only cleanses the teeth but also keeps mouth and gums healthy, when put on paper does not sound very different from the story of just any ordinary dentifrice.

For that reason we make every effort to get the people to try Senreco. After that Senreco tells its own story - and fully 90% of them are Senreco users and boosters from then on.

There is a Senreco user in Pittsburgh who has introduced our product into the families of thirty-four of his friends. Enthusiasm? No, not entirely. Simply a case of Senreco making good. It is just as stated above. If they will try Senreco - if they once become acquainted with a real dentifrice - with what a dentifrice can and should be - they are Senreco boosters from that time on.

Your druggist or toilet counters can supply you with Senreco. It comes in large, two ounce tubes and retails at 25¢.

Why not get a tube to-day? Try it. We stand behind every package of Senreco with a money-back guarantee.

Very truly yours,
SENRECO,
CINCINNATI.

CORN BRINGS BETTER PRICES; OATS GAIN

CHICAGO, March 6.—Corn brought somewhat better prices today, helped a little by improvement in the average quality of arrivals. The market closed steady with May $1.37½ a net advance of a shade. Oats gained ¼@¾c to ⅜@½c. The outcome in provisions ranged from 2c decline to a rise of 7c. Unsettled weather and a falling off in the rapidity of the corn crop movement counted more or less favor of bulls, but were considerably offset by reports that cars available at Illinois stations showed a material increase. Scantiness of offerings except on decided upturns gave strength to oats, and so too did export business by way of the gulf. Estimates of record breaking farm reserves 631,000,000 bushels failed to keep prices down. Provisions averaged highger as a result of higher quotations on hogs. Most of the buying was for shorts.

RAILS AND STEELS SHARE MARKET HONORS

NEW YORK, March 6.—Rails and steels shared the honors of today's resultory stock market, the former advancing 1 to 3½ points on intimations of early federal developments beneficial to the transportation systems and the latter responding quite substantially to some favorable exhibits of earnings.

St. Paul common and preferred enjoyed especial prominence for a time to the accompaniment of rumors indicating dividend action, and Rack Islands featured the lower priced western rails.

Gross gains in equipments extended from one to two points. Republic Iron and Crucible and Lackawanna Steels frequently rivalling United States Steel in activity. The latter closed at a small fractional loss, others of the same group cancelling their gains in the final hour on a general reaction in shippings and specialties.

Sales 350,000 shares.

Liberty bonds hardened after early irregularity. Total sales (par value) $2,450,000.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

DRIVE AWAY HEADACHE

Rub Musterole on Forehead and Temples

A headache remedy without the dangers of "headache medicine." Relieves headache and that miserable feeling from colds or congestion. And it acts at once! Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Used only externally, and in no way can it affect stomach and heart, as some internal medicines do.

Excellent for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, all pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

The prompt and positive action of this simple, inexpensive home-made remedy in quickly healing the inflamed or swollen membranes of the throat, chest or bronchial tubes and breaking up tight coughs, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (60 cents worth), into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. You then have a full pint—a family supply—of a much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is known the world over for its promptness, ease and certainty in overcoming stubborn coughs and chest colds.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL MAKES ANOTHER RECORD

Membership in Junior Red Cross 100 Per Cent—Announcement Made by Principal Callihan Wednesday.

Principal Callihan made annonucement at noon Wednesday that the local high school was 100 per cent Junior Red Cross. This speaks well for the pupils as the goal was reached by each pupil contributing the necessary sum, twenty five cents to the cause.

The movement was only started a short time ago and Jacksonville is one of the few schools in the entire state that has reported a perfect membership.

Mr. Callihan said last night that it was expected to at once take the necessary steps to perfect organization so that every school building in the city would show 100 per cent membership in the Junior Red Cross.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES

Several items of interest in the Expression Department are planned for the near future. A beginners recital in expression will be given in Music Hall on Friday afternoon, March 8, at 4:15. To this everyone is cordially invited to be present.

The Wesley Mathers Contest in Declamation has been postponed until early in April on account of the crowded schedules for March. A great deal of enthusiasm is being shown by those who are preparing to enter. An unusually good contest will be held at this time.

On March 22 an invitation is extended to all, who are interested, to attend the intermediate recital in expression which will be held at 4:15 in Music Hall.

A number of students in the department have been doing considerable public work lately. Miss Marion DePew read most creditably for the Pocahontas Lodge at their social meeting last week. Miss Avonne Jameson and Miss Mamie Kennedy were in Chapin Monday where they read for the Red Cross tea given at the home of Miss Amy Onken.

Miss Constance, director of the department gave a program at the Sunday afternoon chapel at the School for the Blind. A very large audience greeted her most enthusiastically. The program was varied and humorous and pathos.

The Dramatic Club will present their play on March 25, at which time three comedies will be given. They are hard at work on this and will give an unusually good evening's entertainment.

The gymnasium exhibition will be held on March 18. Special training is being carried out to make this one of the strongest exhibitions ever held at the college.

Good report comes from the University of Illinois regarding the graduate work of Miss Ora Theobald and Miss Hazel Houck. They are both expecting to receive their Master of Arts Degree this coming commencemnt time.

A recital will be given by intermediate pupils in the College of Music at 8:15 tonight (Thursday) in Music Hall. Numbers for piano, organ, voice and violin will be presented. All are cordially invited to be present.

NOTICE!

The Ladies' Aid of the Christian church at Woodson will serve dinner today at twelve o'clock.

NORTONVILLE

Thos. McNeely and family spent Sunday at Ed McNeely's.

Floyd Britenstine passed the central examination Friday with an average of 89 2-3.

Corbert Wilson, our local blacksmith, has enlisted in the engineering corps and is stationed at Jefferson Barracks. He expects an immediate call to France.

Lauren Shelton and his mother have moved to the house recently vacated by Frank Edwards.

Harry Fanning, William Steele, Thos. Lacey and family, H. J. Lemons and family, Misses Lanis Cox and Jennie O'Brien were Jacksonville callers Saturday.

Gus Seymour had a narrow escape from breaking a limb Saturday, when he was in a mix up with some loose horses in the barn.

Mrs. Leora Rawlings of Jacksonville called on Mr. and Mrs. William Rawlings Sunday. Mrs. Geo. Rawlings of Arkansas City, Kans., who was recently called to Palmyra because of the death of her sister, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Rawlings and left Sunday night for her home.

Mrs. Gussie Henry who is a patient at Our Savior's Hospital in Jacksonville, is reported about the same.

C. C. Berryman of Jacksonville was transacting business in the community Monday.

LETTER FROM MR. PINKERTON.

Mayor Rodgers has received from Harry Pinkerton at Camp Logan, Houston, Texas, a letter in which the writer says they are about completing a Y. M. C. A. auditorium building which will seat 4000 persons and they are to have all sorts of fine entertainments in it serving the boys in the best way possible. They are also completing a Y. M. C. A. club room for officers and in many ways are seeking the health, happiness and welfare of the men in khaki. He says Rev. M. L. Pontius is winning golden opinions among the men he has met and to whom he has spoken and they will be very sorry to have him leave.

SIGS AND PHIS SAY "WE WILL SURE WIN"

Views Expressed By Members of Respective Societies as to Coming Debate—Each Believe Others' Chances—S. W. Nichols and Ensley Moore Will Be on Hand.

On Friday evening the annual debate between Phi Alpha and Sigma Pi societies will be held in Illinois college chapel. The question is, Resolved—That a permanent policy of price regulation should be established by the United States government. Sigma Pi will have the affirmative.

The Phi Alpha team is composed of Robert Nesmith, Francis Taylor and John Martin while Sigma Pi will be represented by Leslie Irwin, George Garrison and Robert Shoemaker.

On the following Friday evening Sigma Pi will debate Monmouth here while the Phi Alpha team will clash with Augusta at Rock Island.

That the members of the two societies are confident of victory is shown by the two unbiased opinions written by a Phi and a Sig respectively. They are given hereunder.

SIGS AND PHIS CLASH.
But No Chance for the Sigs Who Will Be Completely Defeated.
By Clarence Howard Govela.
A PHI.

Long years ago when the world was new, at least when Uncle Sammy Nichols and Ensley Moore were boys, there sprang up in Illinois college two societies—Phi Alpha and Sigma Pi. And from the beginning these two striplings showed forensic tendencies. They found a joy, with their manly vigor and prowess, in tugging at each others' ears and playing tag with each others' noses.

That was in the dear days past recall (all of which means nothing except to a Sig or a Phi,) but they soon got over their puerile amusements. Grown to full manhood, fully developed in body and mind they were able to cope with each other with rare intelligence. Oftentimes they met on the platform in the most trying of all combats-debate, and here with the two factions lined up behind their leaders were fought out some of the most brilliant and bloodless battles in the state. In this Phi Alpha took the lead, and would have continued to do so had not the Sigs snatched Bullard, Dixon and Apple away from us, and made a team of them. But even at that they were not invincible for two years ago the "Mighty" grovelled in the dust behind the chariot of Magner, Watkins and Nesmith. And last year they walked on their hands and knees to us, just as they will do again Friday.

Now all the foregoing was merely to remind Carl Robinson, Hugh Green, John Butler, et al, of the days when the Sigs were quivering in their boots over the results of the effect of their opponents' brilliant speeches on the judges—as if these men men could forget! Just to draw their attention away from their dusty law books, back to the time when mad with enthusiasm the Phis would rush to the platform, hoist them to shoulder, shouting and congratulating, and bear them to the Hall where a feed and a night long celebration awaited.

And that is about what will happen again Friday night the eighth. The Sigs haven't the faintest chance in the world to win. What can they do against such men as Nesmith, Martin and Taylor, seasoned men and brilliant? Their castles will crumble before "Fighting" Bob, like paper houses on the waves. It is ridiculous for them even to hope. In a few simple, effective words Martin will show the absurdity of the Government adopting a regulation of prices, and Taylor will present an alternative. That is all.

But we all want to hear it, and every Sig, and every Phi, and every body that is interested in the question will, or ought to be, at the college chapel 8 o'clock, Friday evening of March eighth. Ghosts of past struggles haunt that forum.

PHIS LOSE STAR DEBATER
Watkins Unable to Participate
By Ralph Baker.
A Sig.

"Bah" rasps out Ensley Moore thumping on the floor with his cane.

"Rot!" yells old Sammy Nichols, and spits wildly at the cuspidor.

"You haven't a chance!" from Ensley.

"You've not the ghost of a show!" from Sammy.

On Friday night, Mar. 8, the titantic struggle between Sigma Pi and Phi Alpha will occur. Phi Alpha's strong team of the past three years has now sunered dissolution. Watkins, the star member, not being able to keep up his class work and at the same time do justice to the debate, has nobly sacrificed his place on the team. As a consequence the Phis are quite dejected and utterly disconsolate.

On the other hand, the Sigs have lost their whole team of the past three years. All gone to the wars. But contrary to all expectation, the present team, made up of Garrison, Shoemaker and Erwin, evinces qualities that make the Sigs certain of success. Indeed, they are so sure that they even feel a tender sympathy for their opponents, and urge all Sigs, and Sig sympathizers, to attend the debate; not to crow over the discomfited Phis, but to cheer and comfort them in their hour of distress.

The debate, according to this, may be one-sided, but it is sure to be interesting — even thrilling — for there is always that splendid fighting spirit that characterizes all Illinois College teams, and makes results uncertain until the end is reached. The element of chance is omnipresent and altho at first blush it seems impossible, the Phis may win.

Those then, who attend from a sense of duty and pure altruism, are sure to be more than gratified.

Thomas Jenkinson of Bloomington enjoyed a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jenkinson and other friends yesterday.

TROCO

Only in Troco Is the Real Butter Flavor Found

USERS of butter can change to Troco and never know the difference. Because Troco is made by an exclusive process — the process which gives the real creamery butter flavor which other nut butters lack.

Troco is made by a company which specializes in this one product — butter made from the dainty white meat of coconuts churned with pasteurized milk. Quality and flavor can't be copied.

Thus you should not ask simply for "nut butter" or "nut margarine." You should specify Troco.

National Successor to Butter

Troco is not a substitute for butter, but actually butter's successor. Like butter it is energy food of the highest nutritive value. It is equally digestible, even more easily assimilated.

For cooking it has no equal, either in results or from an economical standpoint. Troco goes farther than butter.

A Misleading Label

To label Troco as an oleomargarine is extremely misleading. But it is required by an old law, made before this new product was invented.

But remember, Troco contains no animal oils. It is made only from pure, appetizing vegetable fats and pasteurized milk, by a company which makes no animal oil products.

Your Dealer Has TROCO or He Can Order It

We can supply every dealer on short notice. A telephone order will bring prompt delivery. Thus you should insist upon TROCO — the nut butter with the true butter flavor.

Your dealer will supply you with a capsule of the vegetable coloring used by all butter makers.

MANY SALES RECORDED IN GREENE COUNTY

Shackelford & Seely Annual Horse and Mule Sale Totals $19,052.50 —Leroy H. Richert Made Sergeant at Camp Jackson—Other Greene County News Notes.

White Hall, March 6.—R. L. Davis sold 12 head of horses, 38 cattle and seven cows Monday at his farm, four miles southeast of White Hall. The offerings constituted a surplus of stock and some additional purchases and the prices realized were good. The cows sold around $75.00, and the top price on the horses was $202.00.

The annual sale of horses and mules by Shackelford & Seely was held Tuesday at the Kendall farm, just at the southern limits of the city. Trains on the C. & A. were stopped at the farm, affording a great convenience to the visitors; and there was a large attendance. F. E. Baker paid the highest price for a span of mules, $600.00 Other pairs brought $557.50, $545.00, $542.50, $510.00, and $500.00 One pair of yearling mules brought $425. One single mule brought $270.00. The highest price for a pair of horses was $400.00, and one single horse, a saddle mare, brought $250.00. The 82 head of mules brought a total of $16,022, and the 27 horses brought $3,030, making the sale total $19,052.50 The auctioneers were J. A. Hughes of Pontiac, Elvis Spencer of Scottville, and Lorton & Kistler, of White Hall.

Three Important Farm Sales

Three important sales of farms, all located in the Lorton Prairie neighborhood, southeast of White Hall, are reported this week, the three transactions aggregating $71,000. The Stubblefield farm of 300 acres was sold to Bud Gilmore, of Greenfield for $40,000 George Spangenberg sold his farm of 280 acres to A. A. Thompson, of Roodhouse, for $20,000. Sebastian Gropp sold his 117 acres to George Rafferty of White Hall, for $11,000.

Richert Made a Sergeant.

Leroy H. Richert, stationed at Camp Jackson, S. C., with the Headquarters Company of the 306th Engineers, has been made a sergeant. He entered the service from Florida as a private, and his first promotion to corporal came soon after reaching the camp. The young man is a son of Charles Richert, the pioneer White Hall business man, and the father was naturally proud of the following letter from the sergeant: "We are now getting down to some hard work in the band, and as soon as the new instruments arrive we will be playing at retreat every day. This week the rookies have been coming in from all directions by the train loads, and about 700 of our trained men have left camp for New Jersey to take a special course of training before going across I have it doped out that at present they are using our regiment as an engineer depot, and only small bunches will be taken out and transferred in at a time. I think most of the regiment will make a move before long, but enough will be left as a framework for the new arrivals. Our men are getting very hard training now, and it may be that when we do move we will go right across. Hereafter you will address me as Sergeant Richert It is quite a jump from buck private to sergeant bugler making my pay $48.00 four dollars more than a sergeant gets."

County Institute In Session

The annual Green County normal institute is in session at the high school, with an enrollment of 175. The instructors are Prof. Shyrock, president of the Southern Illinois Normal University, and Dr. Lord of the Eastern Illinois Normal University. The musical instruction is in charge of Prof. Simms of Portland, Ind. Tuesday night H. H. Bancroft, of Jacksonville, spoke on the Illinois Centennial as a representative of the Illinois Centennial commission.

Harry Page, the well known theatrical manager, was down from Peoria Monday. He reports that Byron C. Lorton, a White Hall product, is now located at Peoria, and is traveling for a packing concern.

W. W. Evans and Contractor Frank L. Grant were in Springfield Saturday on business pertaining to the new garage that the former is to erect this spring.

Nothing outside the general offices of the Chicago & Alton is known as to what action will be finally be taken by that road in regard to an order for the new time schedules carrying reduced passenger service that has been ordered on all western roads by Director-General McAdoo, to become effective on the 15th inst. There will be no change on the Burlington that will affect the passenger service on that road thru White Hall.

A son, fourth child, has arrived at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Hamilton.

The venerable Carey F. Strang was conveyed to his home at Murrayville Saturday, following his severe sick spell at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. E. Wyatt, where he was visiting when stricken with what has been determined as kidney trouble. He has practicallly recovered.

J. W. Vineyard, Sr., was taken to a St. Louis hospital this week for an X-Ray examination to determine the exact nature of the trouble that has been holding him bedfast for several weeks in a serious condition It is feared that he has cancer of the stomach.

John C. Kistler left Monday for Colorado Springs to visit at the home of Anderson Hahn. Claude Lorton, who was taken there about six weeks ago Earl Kistler for his health, has since been failing.

GEORGE W. MOORE'S LONG LIFE JOURNEY IS ENDED

Death Came Wednesday Morning At 10 o'Clock At State Street Residence—Veteran of Civil War and Prominent Resident of the County.

When George W. Moore crossed the border at 10:20 o'clock Wednesday morning it was after a life journey of more than eighty-five years. Mr. Moore was born January 1, 1833, in this county and it was given to him to spend all of his long life in this county save for his years in army service.

It was only about one year ago that Mr. Moore began to evidence the weaknesses of old age and the illness which finally caused his death began about that time. In recent months there came a return of the remarkable vitality which had characterized other years and until a very few days since there was promise that this honored resident of the county would at least be able to celebrate his eighty-sixth anniversary. It is given to very few people to live so many years and to fewer people still to spend those years from childhood clear thru to old age in one community. Mr. Moore was the son of Dr. Edmund Moore and was born at the farm home six miles east of Jacksonville in the Arnold neighborhood. He continued to live at that farm home until November, 1915, when he became a resident of Jacksonville.

Finished College in 1856

After attending the country district school Mr. Moore became a student at Illinois college and graduated in the class of 1856 with the degree of bachelor of science. John P. Smith of 1042 West State is the only surviving member of that class. In his student days Mr. Moore was particularly interested along scientific lines and when he left college and began farming which was to occupy the business years of his life, he was still a student. He kept pace with the advancement in scientific agriculture and applied the best known principles to the development of his own farm properties.

In 1861 he heard the call to arms and as the Illinois quota was filled, along with other young men from this community he became a member of Co. G of the 1st Missouri volunteer cavalry. He enlisted August 20, 1861, and soon afterward was chosen a lieutenant in the company. The company in its first campaign work was a part of the command of Gen. Fremont and assisted in the work of driving Gen. Sterling Price and his bushwhackers from Missouri into Arkansas. Later there was a second campaign against General Price, under the command of Generals Curtis and Sigel. The operations of Co. G were largely directed against guerillas and bushwhackers in Missouri and Arkansas, altho the company took part in some other campaigns.

At the close of a long period of valiant service Mr. Moore returned to this, his home county, and again engaged in farming and stock raising and remained actively in this work until a very few years since.

Life Long Republican

Mr. Moore was a staunch supporter of the principles of the Republican party and thru all the years was in close touch with party organization and accomplishment. He had been so long interested in public affairs that he knew the history of the party from its very beginning. His interest in the party was based especially upon his belief in the soundness of its principles and upon the seriousness of the work which it had done. He was only once a candidate for political office and in 1887 he was elected a member of the county board, serving for a three year term. For a period of thirty-five years he held the office of township trustee of school funds and because of his interest in educational affairs, in 1891 was appointed by Gov. Yates as one of the trustees of the Illinois School for the Blind. In all positions of a public character Mr. Moore evidenced the same carefulness and faithfulness that characterized his life in its other relationships.

It was May 25, 1868, that Mr Moore was married to Miss Nancy M. Chambers, the daughter of Col. and Mrs. George M. Chambers. The death of Mrs. Moore occurred in July, 1890. After leaving his farm Mr. Moore and daughter, Miss Eleanor I. Moore, who survives him, occupied the old Chambers homestead at 829 West State street, which Mr. Moore purchased just before coming to Jacksonville. It was in this home that his marriage had been solemnized in 1868 and so after leaving the old home which had sheltered him for more than four score years he entered another home which held some of the dearest memories of his youth.

Friendships With Many.

Many men have only two or three close friends during all of life's journey, but Mr. Moore had friends almost without number and the intimacies lived all thru the long years. He had a distinct individual dignity which never left him, yet to old and young he accorded an unfailing courtesy and in a rare way he made the interests of those about him his interests. One could not come into contact with Mr. Moore without admiring not only the strength of character but the breadth of his vision and sympathies. He had his own well founded opinions—was ready to defend them—but he had the faculty of recognizing the mental rights of others and the sincerity of their individual views.

Mr. Moore was a man of marvelous physical vitality and the vigor of body was reflected in the strength of mind all thru the long years. He fed both mind and body and so as the later years of his life came he did not wither but continued to grow and develop. Altho he was never happier than when with war time comrades he turned back the pages of history and fought again the campaigns of the '60s, none were more interested in present day affairs nor better posted. He followed closely the events which led up to the present world war and watched eagerly for each day's telegraphic stories of the progress of events. His interest was at the keenest point when the United States became directly involved and tho in the last years failing eyesight interfered with his own reading, he listened each day as others read the lines of recent history.

Vitality is a word which really characterized his life, for it dominated in mind, in body and in soul. He lived circumspectly and his influence was always for the better things of life. He "did justly, loved mercy and walked humbly with God," and as vitality characterized his life, so did humbleness. His was a fine, strong spirit but it was under control, and with him humbleness did not mean cringing but a certain definite gentleness coupled with personal modesty. Men of the fine type of George W. Moore are few indeed and the influence of his life and work cannot rightly be told in newspaper lines.

Funeral services in his memory will be held at the family home, 829 West State street, at 10 o'clock Friday morning in charge of Dr. F. S. Hayden, assisted by Dr. E. B. Landis. Members of Matt Starr Post G. A. R., in which Mr Moore had long held membership, will conduct the services at Diamond Grove cemetery. Friends are requested to omit flowers.

RATE HEARING IS ADJOURNED TO MARCH 20

Utilities Commission Will Hear Oral Argument on Proposed Increase in Service Charges.

Springfield, Ill., March 6.—With the completion late today of the presentation of evidence on the application of McKinley System public service companies for rate increases, the public utilites commission, adjourned the hearing until March 20 when oral arguments will be heard.

Peoria withdrew from the joint hearing today in order that the city's case might be considered separately and a continuance was granted by the commission for sixty days.

Opposition of the city of Peoria to the proposed advance in street car fares is pronounced. Twelve tickets are now sold at Peoria for fifty cents, whereas it is the purpose of the company to charge a straight five cent fare.

H. E. Chubbuck, vice president of the traction system, was on the stand today to testify with reference to cost of operating the company's plant at Ottawa where water power is used in addition to steam. Ottawa attorneys contended the cost of producing current by water power was less than by steam which is used exclusively in other cities served by the traction system.

The cities of Cairo and Galesburg opposed the increase at this morning's hearing.

Would Increase Rates in Northern Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., March 6.—Increases in electric rates affecting twenty five towns and cities were asked today in an application filed with the public utilities commission by the Illinois Northern Utilities company.

The places in which advances are requested are as follows: Aledo, Keithsburg, Alexis, Woodhull, Joy, New Boston, Alpha, Rio, North Henderson, Seaton, Belvidere, Hampshire, Genoa, Kirkland, Kingston, Caledonia, Garden Prairie, Harvard, Chenung, Capron and Poplar Grove.

FARM NOTES.

In his first letter issued to members of the Morgan county Farmers' club George B. Kendall, county agent lays new emphasis upon the need for careful selection of seed corn. He also calls attention to the fact that the state seed corn administration is ready to buy seed corn which will test as follows: germination from 70 to 79 per cent, $4.50 per bu.; 80 to 89 per cent, $6.50 per bu.; 90 to 100 per cent, $8.50 per bushel.

The state administration will provide seed corn to farmers who need it at prices $1.50 in excess of those quoted. The difference is occasioned by the expense in buying and reselling the corn. The county agent also calls attention to the great advantage in grading seed oats before sowing, his statement being that there is a larger proportion of weak seed in oats than in wheat. Plants produced from these small weak kernels do not yield as well as those from the large kernels. The county agent also points to the advantage of treating oats for smut with formaldehye and gives this suggestion as to the manner of treatment:

Oat Smut.

"One pint of good formaldehyde to 45 gallons of water will give a solution that will prevent smut if the oats are thoroly wet with it and kept covered for four or five hours. One Morgan county man put them on a tight board floor and put the solution over them with a spray pump and then covered them with canvas. Afterwards they were shoveled over until they were dry. One county in this state has practically stamped out oat smut, and saved the expenses of the farm bureau several times over in one year. Won't you try it? Our druggists have agreed to handle a good grade of formaldehyde at reasonable prices. Buy it in original packages when possible."

LADIES' DEPARTMENT

Many a man has started a checking account for his wife, to teach her banking methods. It is a wise precaution. In these days of uncertainty it is well to guard against the unforseen.

This bank welcomes Ladies' Checking Accounts. Special attention is given them. The little courtesies like a ladies' waiting room, special ladies' teller, and convenient check books, etc., are afforded of course.

Such an account enables a woman to keep an accurate account of her household expenses — to learn banking methods, and often times promotes thrift.

COLLEGE AVENUE PAVING HEARING TODAY

The hearing called for the West College avenue pavement will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock. More than usual interest has been already manifested by citizens and it is probable that there will be an unusually large attendance at the hearing this afternoon. There is considerable sentiment against the repaving or retopping of this street at the present time, many property owners having urged upon the board of local improvements that all possible public improvements should be postponed. The mistake some property owners make when public hearings are called is not to enter their appearance but file protests at a later time. The hearing is called for the specific purpose of giving property owners opportunity to express their views.

FIREMAN JOHN TAYLOR HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Caught Under Falling Timbers at McAvoy Fire Wednesday Evening—Is rescued by Fireman James Hurst—Fire from Defective Flue Causes Damage Estimated at Nearly $3,000.

Fireman John Taylor had a narrow escape from death Wednesday evening when he was caught by falling floor timbers during a fire at the residence of Mrs. Mary McAvoy, 228 East North street, which caused a property loss estimated by Chief Hunt at between $2,500 and $3,000. It is thought the loss is fully covered by insurance.

The fire, which probably was caused by a defective chimney, was discovered about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. When the department arrived on the scene the entire roof was in flames. By hard work the flames were confined to the upper floors which were completely gutted. The damage to the first floor was only water damage.

Neighbors and others who rushed to the fire assisted in removing most of the furniture from the lower floor but that in the second story was burned.

It was while the fire was at its height that the accident occurred that nearly resulted seriously to Fireman Taylor. Taylor and Chief Hunt were in one of the lower rooms with a hose. Chief Hunt stepped out of the room to call to his men to carry more hose into the house.

Almost the instant he stepped out of the room the floor fell. One of the joists pinned Taylor in a corner and he was unable to move. Fireman Hurst heard his cries for help and managed to get in the room and lifted the timber from the prostrate man. Aside from a bruise on his head and a bad scare Taylor was not injured.
